

INHABIT
EDUCATION

Spring 2017

Dear Reader,

Welcome to the Inhabit Education 2017 spring catalogue. We're pleased to broaden our offerings this year to include French-language titles, more Big Books suitable for classroom reading, and a range of books at different reading levels, in a wide variety of fiction and non-fiction genres, offered in both Inuktitut and English.

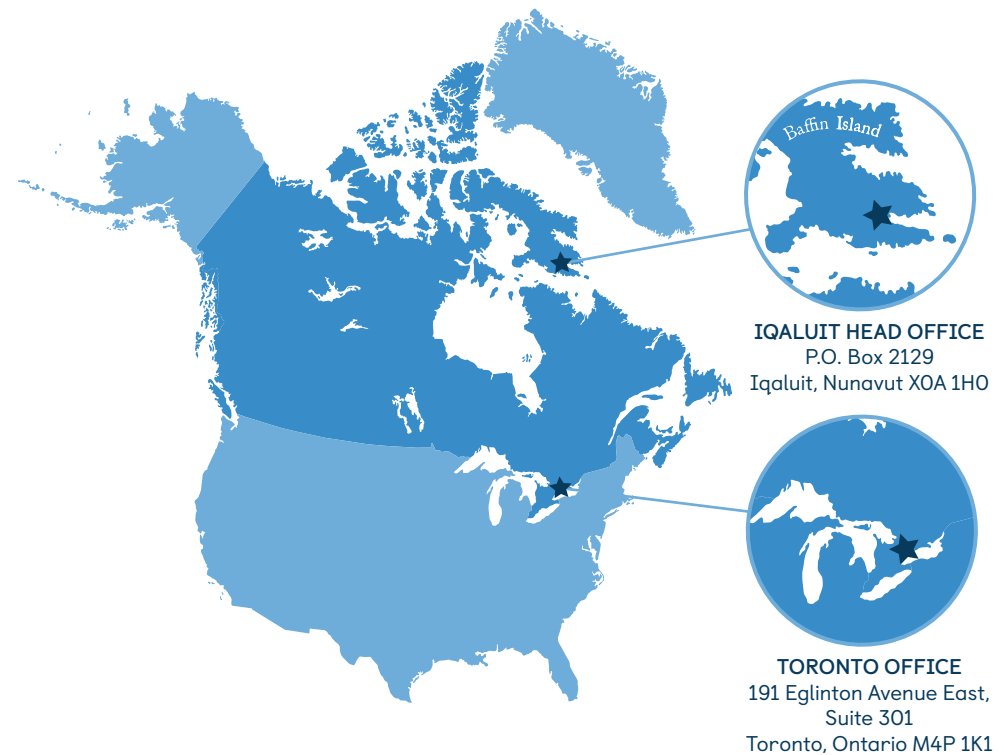

Inhabit Education is a Nunavut-based educational publishing company with a mandate to provide educators and parents with educational resources that are infused with authentic Northern perspectives, ways of life, and imagery. Inhabit Education's publishing initiative always considers stories and information in an educational context. All of our publications are developed by a team of Northern educators and language experts. These titles incorporate concepts that students are familiar with—counting, animals, family, legends, and so on—within a Northern context. These books are designed to support students across Canada in their reading development while providing access to materials that reflect Canada's diversity of geography, culture, and traditions.

Wherever you are in Canada, we hope you enjoy sharing these stories of fun, adventure, history, and nature with your young readers!

All the best,

Louise Flaherty
 Managing Partner, Inhabit Education

The Nunavummi Reading Series is a unique Nunavut-made levelled reading program that aligns the reading expectations of the Inuit language, English, and French. The reading series corresponds closely to the reading levels and expectations developed by the Department of Education in Nunavut. This approach to literacy provides educators and parents the tools they need to ensure that children are equally challenged and successful in all the languages represented in Nunavut.

For southern educators, this program represents an opportunity to infuse their levelled reading programs with authentic Northern perspectives and knowledge. Canada is a country of cultural, geographic, and linguistic diversity, and the Nunavummi Reading Series helps educators create a literacy program that reflects this diversity.

The books available in this catalogue are for readers from Levels 1 (roughly early Kindergarten) to 13 (roughly mid-Grade 3). These levels build on the reader's skills as they move progressively from simple sentences to complex short stories and non-fiction informational books. Note: grade ranges are provided merely as a guide and may not reflect the developmental stage of a given individual reader.

For a complete list of levels, please visit
<http://inhabiteducation.com/nunavummi-reading-series/>

These titles have been officially levelled by using the F&P Text Level Gradient™ Leveling System.

Neither Heinemann nor Fountas and Pinnell have produced this catalogue and they do not endorse/sponsor and are not otherwise affiliated with Inhabit Education and are not responsible for the catalogue.

Curriculum Connections

Inhabit Education offers supportive materials for classroom units in a variety of subject disciplines. Many of our titles fit into the following broad curricular areas:

LANGUAGE AND LITERACY

All Nunavummi Reading Series titles support students at a variety of reading levels. Books at the lower levels combine simple sentences with highly supportive illustrations, while books at higher levels include more complex sentences, less supportive illustrations, and new print concepts such as text boxes and glossaries. A combination of fiction and non-fiction texts ensures that children are exposed to a variety of reading materials and that all students can find a book that captures their interest.

DIVERSITY AND ABORIGINAL PERSPECTIVES

Nunavummi Reading Series titles are written from an Arctic, and usually an Inuit, perspective. Fiction texts like Going Fishing (p. 9) and Journey to the Winter Camp (p. 15) feature Inuit characters, and non-fiction texts such as Nunavut Then and Now and Traditional Inuit Clothing (p. 16) expose children to Inuit tools, traditions, and ways of life. All text, illustrations, and photographs are carefully reviewed for cultural accuracy.

ENVIRONMENTAL AWARENESS, ENVIRONMENTAL STEWARDSHIP, SUSTAINABILITY, AND LIFE SYSTEMS

Nunavummi Reading Series titles can support a variety of science units on the environment, animals, and seasons. Readers will learn about the natural environment of the Arctic through non-fiction texts like What Is an Insect? and Bugs That Love the Cold (p. 12), and Arctic Plants: An Introduction to Edible and Medicinal Plants of the North (p. 17). They will also learn about the traditional Inuit value of environmental stewardship.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL DEVELOPMENT

Both fiction and non-fiction texts incorporate essential themes of community engagement, identity and self-image, and roles and responsibilities. Ukaliq and Kalla Go Sliding (p. 10) teaches children the importance of outdoor safety, while Harry Okpik, Determined Musher (p. 19) teaches children how to face adversity as well as the importance of dogsledding in Inuit culture.

HISTORY AND HERITAGE

Many books in the Nunavummi Reading Series can be incorporated into units on Canadian and indigenous history, heritage, culture, and legends. Both fiction and non-fiction books in the series provide perspectives on life in the Arctic, past and present. Readers will discover what living in Nunavut is like in Summer in Nunavut and Winter in Nunavut (p. 11), about traditional Inuit legends in Nuliajuk (p. 18), and about Northern history in Tuniit (p. 15).
